

Ornamental Fish from all over the world

Serrasalmus cf. neveriensis

There are many enigmatic species of Piranha, but one of the most mysterious ones is S. neveriensis. For the first time ever we could import two specimens from Venezuela, which fit in respect of anatomical features very well with that species that has been described in 1993. The coloration of the fish varies a lot. On a picture made in the field by our supplier one can see that one specimen has a black marginal seam in the caudal fin, which is thought to be species-specific for S. neveriensis, but which is not observable (yet?) in our two fish. In any case the two represent very interesting specimens, real highlights for all real piranha fans.

For our customers: the fish have code 292483 on our stocklist. Please note that we exclusively supply the wholesale trade.

Moema sp. Venezuela

We received this wonderful killifish from Venezuela. Even experts for the group were not able so far to determine it. The species seems to be most closely related to Moema portugali from Guyana. We have two varieties of the fish (males and females?), one with orange stripes on the upper and the lower border of the caudal fin, and one in which the upper part of the caudal is spotted.

For our customers: the animals have code 330044 on our stocklist. Please note that we exclusively supply the wholesale trade. Only very few specimens available!
